- Do you have questions about how businesses will operate in a post Brexit UK?
- Will the referendum decision affect your business?
- How will exports be affected by the vote to leave the EU?
- What are the implications for your labour force?

Join the Europe Direct team, your local Member of the European Parliament and Sally Jones, International Trade Policy Director at Deloitte at the Stadium of Light for an informed discussion and question and answer session focussing on Brexit and trade. Sally is responsible for Deloitte's Global Brexit Insight lead. She has twice been called to give expert evidence to the House of Lords inquiry into the impact of Brexit on trade in non-financial services.

Sally is also involved in liaising with the Departments for Business, Energy and Industrial Strategy (BEIS), and International Trade (DIT) to represent the views of Deloitte UK and the wider Professional & Business Services sector. In this role she chairs a Trade Technical Group (on behalf of BEIS, the Department for Exiting the EU, DIT, and the Ministry of Justice) and is the business-side secretariat to the UK government's Professional & Business Services Council.

The event will bring you up to date with the latest developments in the UK/EU negotiations and allow you the chance to put questions to your MEP and to specialists in this field.

This is not a campaigning event. It is open to all who have an interest in finding out more about the implications for business and trade as the UK prepares to leave the European Union.
